PERFECTLY FLAWED _ HANDMADE

There is an interesting balance between technical materials — such as OJJ
or high-tenacity nylon —
and the enhancement of the imperfection typical of manual work as an “aesthetic of error.”

OJJ

OJJ - Original Japanese Jersey - è stato inventato e sviluppato da Ten c. È un tessuto non tessuto
a filato di poliestere micro fibra e nylon, tenace e resistente, che accetta la tinta e si presta
per la tintura in capo di un tale materiale, poiché
crea una sensazione al tatto e la qualità tipica del cotone. La tintura in capo dell'OJJ è una caratteristica di Ten c.

Made by Ten c.

The Skye Ten Anorak becomes the symbol of this fusion between the classic world of Ten c and the urban world.

THE SKYE TEN ANORAK

An iconic garment that has been part of its collections for years and chosen by musicians and artists for its authenticity and character.

Garment dyeing gives depth of color, character, and a unique patina that evolves over time, emphasizing Ten c's artisanal identity.

OJJ IN ITS MOST
AUTHENTIC _ FORM

OJJ enhanced by the
brand's iconic models

For the harshest winter, OJJ is also available padded with down, creating new silhouettes that maintain the brand's military reference but ensure superior thermal performance.

The Primaloft padding guarantees warmth, lightness, and quick drying, making it an extremely versatile garment for everyday use.
